

In Conversation with Susan A. Thompson

Nov 27, 2016 • 2-4pm

Join us for an afternoon with Winnipeg's first and only female mayor, Susan A. Thompson. Hear her share personal, business, and political insights through a conversation with Shannon Sampert, Perspective & Politics Editor at the Winnipeg Free Press.

This one-on-one discussion with the first woman mayor in Winnipeg's history and the first woman op-ed editor in the history of the Winnipeg Free Press is an once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. Come celebrate and learn from these inspiring women!

The event highlights Susan's new memoir, Her Worship: Moments in History, Moments in Time, written with Terry Létienne. Available for purchase at the event.

INUIT ART CENTRE

The WAG is home to the largest public collection of contemporary Inuit art anywhere. To celebrate the art and to honour the Inuit, the WAG is building an Inuit Art Centre, the first of its kind in the world. The new Centre will be more than just a building, it will be a bridge connecting Canada's North and South through exhibitions, stories, art-making, and interactive learning spaces.
